ACADEMIC STANDARDS & ADVISING

Academic Standards

Grade Point Average
A student is required to maintain at least a B (3.00) average in all work attempted while enrolled in the Graduate School, and must have at least a 3.00 cumulative average to receive a graduate degree.

Nonacceptable Grades
1. A student who receives a grade of C+ or below in a course may retake the course under the grade replacement policy, if eligibility standards are met.
2. Courses in which grades below B- (2.70) are received are not accepted for doctoral programs.
3. Courses in which grades below C (2.00) are received are not accepted for master's degree programs or for the removal of academic deficiencies.
4. Courses taken toward the fulfillment of requirements for graduate degrees may not be taken pass/fail.

Student Ethics

Academic Dishonesty
The University of Colorado Boulder is dedicated to maintaining the highest standards of intellectual honesty. Commitment to these standards is the responsibility of every student, faculty and staff member. The Honor Code was designed to uphold CU Boulder’s standards of academic integrity and intellectual honesty, as well as to provide quick resolution of reports of student academic misconduct. The Honor Code process is supported by the Boulder Faculty Assembly.

All students of the University of Colorado Boulder are subject to the Honor Code for academic matters. Students must sign a statement agreeing to abide by all university policies, including the Honor Code, as a condition of admission to the university. Students who violate may be subject to discipline as set forth by the Honor Code.

Research Integrity
All research and scholarly/creative work must comply with requirements regarding research integrity. Allegations of plagiarism, fabrication, falsification, and other forms of research misconduct will be investigated by the Standing Committee on Research Misconduct. The Office of Research Integrity provides further information and clarification on related issues and processes. Students should also review the university policy on Misconduct in Research, Scholarship, and Creative Activities.

Probation
A student whose cumulative GPA falls below 3.00 is placed on academic probation. The student generally has two semesters in which to raise the cumulative GPA to 3.00 or above. If the student’s cumulative GPA is at or below 2.50, a dean’s administrative stop is placed on the student’s record, and the student may be withdrawn from coursework for upcoming semesters. Individual departments may have specific probation requirements.

If, after the two-semester probationary period, the student’s cumulative GPA is still below 3.00 or if other conditions placed by the major department or Graduate School are not met, a dean’s administrative stop will be placed on the student’s record and he or she may be subject to dismissal.

A provisionally admitted student whose GPA falls below 3.00 has a dean’s administrative stop placed on his or her record pending a review by the major department and the Graduate School.

Graduate School Advising
Graduate students receive degree-specific advising from their academic department. Faculty advisors are assigned to students according to departmental policies.

The Graduate School provides information and guidance to students, staff, and faculty on many issues. These may include general Graduate School rules and policies, registration requirements, committee and general examination requirements, general academic standards, degree requirements which apply to all students and exceptions to general requirements.

The Graduate Student Services office can advise students regarding graduation requirements, deadlines and degree conferred, and provides information and advice on other issues at the Dean’s Office level.
