Departmental Requirements. Students wishing to pursue graduate work in Theatre, Dance or Experience Design should carefully read both requirements for advanced degrees in the Graduate School section and the individual degree handbooks published on the Theatre and Dance (http://www.colorado.edu/theatredance) website. Students should note that departmental requirements are sometimes more comprehensive than those minimums established by the Graduate School.

Prerequisites. Applicants are admitted to the graduate programs in Theatre, Dance and Experience Design on the basis of their academic records and recommendations. Students may be admitted provisionally but must expect a significant number of additional courses and credit hours that will be required of them to make up deficiencies.

Applications for Dance. Applicants are expected to show a high level of proficiency in dance performance and choreography. The deadline for all applications is December 1. Applicants who want to apply for program support in the form of Graduate Part-Time Instructor (GPTI) positions must apply by December 1. Applicants for the MFA program in Dance must audition in person; international students may audition in digital format. Auditions are held in January for admission the following fall. The specific audition dates can be found on the department website. The Dance program does not accept applications for spring admission.

Applications for Theatre. The deadline for applications from U.S. citizens and permanent residents is December 15. The deadline for applications from non-U.S. citizens is December 1. Both December deadlines are for admission the following fall. The Theatre program does not accept applications for spring admission.

Applications for Experience Design. The Professional MFA in Experience Design admits a new cohort of 8-12 students every other fall semester. Applications will be accepted December 15, 2016 – April 1, 2017 for Fall 2017 entry. The next application cycle will begin December of 2018 for Fall 2019 entry.

Advising Meeting. Every student will have a meeting with faculty upon entering the program. Topics discussed in the meeting and other available information are employed to design the best possible course of study for the student. If the student has been admitted provisionally, this meeting will plot out the necessary coursework above and beyond the required hours for the degree.

All candidates for a degree have the responsibility of making certain that the appropriate persons or committees have been appointed to supervise the various steps in their graduate programs. Detailed instructions can be found in the handbook for each degree, available from the department website.

Course codes for this department are THTR, DNCE, TDXD and THDN.
