EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATIONS, POLICY AND PRACTICE - DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY (PHD)

The PhD in educational foundations, policy and practice (EFPP) from the CU Boulder School of Education offers an outstanding faculty and program devoted to the critical examination of the relationships between education, society and government, with special emphasis on problems of race, gender, sexual diversity, social class and multiculturalism.

The program stresses analysis and evaluation of education theory, practice and policy by drawing on history, philosophy, law and the social sciences. Its foundation is critical scholarship, which examines educational institutions within broad social, historical, political, cultural, legal and economic contexts in the United States.

Program faculty offer courses on topics such as social, cultural, historical and philosophical foundations of education; policy analysis; evaluation; and curriculum theory. Additional related courses are available in other programs of the School of Education and in other departments of the university.

The program is designed to train scholars, teachers, evaluators and policy analysts for careers in academic institutions and agencies at the state and federal levels.

Transfer Credit

Transfer credit is defined as any credit earned at another accredited institution, credits earned on another campus of the CU system, or credits earned as a nondegree student within the CU system including the Boulder campus. Students who have transfer credits must complete the transfer of credit paperwork approval process.

The maximum amount of work that may be transferred from another accredited institution to CU Boulder is 12 credit hours, and is accepted only after approval of the faculty advisor and associate dean for graduate studies. All courses accepted for transfer must be graduate-level courses.
A course in which a grade of B- or lower was received will not be accepted for transfer.

Transfer course work must have been completed in the five years prior to acceptance to the program. Credit may not be transferred until the student has completed 6 credits of graduate-level course work as a degree-seeking student on the CU Boulder campus with a 3.0 GPA.

Language Requirement
Please see the Graduate Student Handbook for more information on this requirement.

Dissertation Credit
All doctoral students must take a minimum of 30 dissertation hours (EDUC 8994 PhD Doctoral Dissertation).

Students are allowed to take up to 10 hours prior to passing their comprehensive exam. Once students pass their comprehensive exam, they must be registered for a minimum of 5 dissertation hours every semester. Students may be registered for 3 hours if they are "off-campus" status, meaning they are not on appointment and are not taking any course work hours.

Students must be registered for a minimum of 5 dissertation hours during the semester they defend.

Scholarly Project
All doctoral students are required to complete, at minimum, one scholarly project prior to taking the comprehensive exam. Presentations at professional meetings, published articles, reviews, etc., are typical ways to satisfy the requirement.

Comprehensive Exam
The comprehensive exam should be taken after students have completed the majority of their course work. The committee, comprised of three graduate faculty members, must be approved by the associate dean and graduate studies coordinator prior to the exam. Students should consult their advisors concerning the format of the comprehensive examination. The candidacy application should also be submitted at the beginning of the semester in which the exam is taken.

Please check the semester deadlines for specific dates.

Prospectus
The dissertation prospectus committee should be comprised of a total of five committee members, three School of Education graduate faculty members and one graduate faculty member from outside the school but within CU Boulder. These members must be approved prior to the prospectus. A signature page should be turned in to the graduate studies coordinator upon completion.

Please check the semester deadlines for specific dates.

Final Defense
The dissertation committee should be comprised of a total of five members, three School of Education graduate faculty members and one graduate faculty member from outside the school but within CU Boulder. These members must be approved prior to the defense. A signature page and final exam form should be turned in to the graduate studies coordinator upon completion. The complete and revised dissertation should be submitted to the Graduate School via the online website according to Graduate School semester deadlines.

Time Limit
The doctoral degree must be completed within six years.
