Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution

What We Believe

Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution (SCCR) strives to provide students with individualized responses to support community standards and conflict resolution that emphasize accountability and growth by:

- Fostering reflection on the impact of their behaviors;
- Promoting responsible community membership and repairing harm; and
- Cultivating the wellbeing and safety of the CU Boulder community.

What Is Important to Us

1. The student will understand the impact of their behavior on others.
2. The student will demonstrate ethical development, will comply with institutional policy and will engage in no further violations of policy.
3. The student will gain an understanding of the institutional values reflected in institutional policies.
4. The student will gain a better understanding of the importance of personal integrity.
5. Through SCCR processes, the student will be asked to reflect on their beliefs, ethics and values.
   a. The student will be able to articulate their personal ethics and values, will act in congruence with those ethics and values, and will make decisions that reflect their beliefs.
6. The student will contribute positively to the CU Boulder community and beyond.
7. The student will gain a better understanding of the consequences and potential consequences of their personal actions and will learn the purposes of institutional policies.
8. The student will employ critical thinking in problem solving and ultimately obtain a degree.

Why Do We Have a Student Code of Conduct? (Authority)

Article 7, Part B, of the Laws of the Regents of the University of Colorado requires each campus to develop a student code of conduct. Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution (SCCR) is authorized to establish and administer this policy. Any questions regarding interpretation of this code or any of its provisions should be directed to the Dean of Students or their designee for final determination.

Questions regarding student behavior should be directed to Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution, studentconduct@colorado.edu, Center for Community, S485, 10 UCB Boulder, CO 80309, phone 303-492-5550.

When and Where Does the Student Code of Conduct Apply? (Jurisdiction)

1. The Student Code of Conduct applies to:
   a. Student conduct that occurs on, or as it relates to, CU Boulder property or at official functions and CU Boulder-sponsored programs conducted away from the campus.
   b. Student conduct that occurs off CU Boulder property is subject to this policy if it:
      i. adversely affects the health, safety or security of any member of the CU Boulder community, including the student alleged to have violated CU Boulder policy or the mission of CU Boulder; or
      ii. involves any records or documents of CU Boulder; or
      iii. involves conduct that may be a violation of federal, state or local law, as determined by SCCR.
   c. For this policy’s purposes, CU Boulder’s mission is broadly defined to include its academic goals and the importance of developing civic responsibility in our students.

2. Recognized Student Organizations and Recognized Social Greek Organizations:
   a. Wherever the Student Code of Conduct refers to “responding student,” the same also applies to Recognized Student Organizations (RSOs) and Recognized Social Greek Organizations (RSGOs). RSOs, as described in the Student Organization Handbook (https://www.colorado.edu/involvement/), are general student organizations recognized by the Center for Student Involvement (CSI) and CU Boulder. Recognized Social Greek Organizations are recognized by Fraternity & Sorority Life (FSL) and CU Boulder.
   b. RSOs and RSGOs, as well as their members and other students, may be held collectively and/or individually responsible for violations.
   c. The RSO and RSGO officers, leaders, signers or individuals currently listed in an official position in the Center for Student Involvement records or Fraternity & Sorority Life records may be held collectively and/or individually responsible for violations when such violations are committed by persons associated with the organization who have received consent or encouragement from the organization’s officers or leaders, if those officers or leaders knew, or reasonably should have known, that such violations were being or would be committed.
   d. The officers or leaders of a student organization may be directed by CU Boulder officials to take action designed to prevent or end violations by the organization or by any persons associated with the organization. Failure to comply with a directive may be considered a violation of the Student Code of Conduct, both by the officers or leaders of the organization and by the organization.

3. Actions taken under a resolution process are separate and apart from any law enforcement or other court process or proceeding, such as a civil lawsuit or criminal prosecution, that may relate to the same underlying factual incident. SCCR’s jurisdiction does not depend on whether a responding student is criminally charged through the criminal justice system. A resolution process is not postponed while criminal or civil proceedings are pending unless otherwise determined by the resolution specialist. Dismissal of criminal charges or acquittal in a criminal case does not prevent SCCR from investigating and resolving an incident.

4. The unexcused failure of a responding student to appear and/or respond to a resolution process does not prevent CU Boulder from proceeding with or completing a resolution process.

5. For jurisdictional information related to sexual misconduct (including sexual assault, sexual harassment, intimate partner violence and gender/sex-based stalking), protected class discrimination, harassment and any related retaliation, see Section M of the Student Code of Conduct.

6. For jurisdictional information pertaining to academic misconduct, see Section M of the Student Code of Conduct.

Colorado Creed
The Colorado Creed, developed by students in 2003, is a social code of conduct and a lifestyle by which students at CU Boulder live. The text of the creed is:

As a member of the Boulder community and the University of Colorado, I agree to:

• Act with honor, integrity and accountability in my interactions with students, faculty, staff and neighbors.
• Respect the rights of others and accept our differences.
• Contribute to the greater good of this community.

I will strive to uphold these principles in all aspects of my collegiate experience and beyond.
