CLASSICS

Through consultation with the undergraduate advisor, the bachelor’s degree in classics is tailored to the student’s interests in the field. Major and minor programs can be arranged with a concentration in either Latin or Greek or a combination of the two, with a focus on classical literature, culture and thought (including mythology, literature, philosophy, religion, art, archaeology and history) or with a particular emphasis on classical history, art and archaeology. Prospective majors and minors should consult with the undergraduate advisor.

The undergraduate degree in classics emphasizes knowledge and awareness of:

- the fundamental outlines of the history of Greek and Roman literature, from Homer to the end of classical antiquity;
- the historical and cultural contexts of particular works; and
- the art, religion and philosophy of ancient Greece and Rome and their roles in world cultural history.

In addition, students completing the degree in classics are expected to acquire the ability and skills to:

- read, understand and interpret written documents and works of literature in ancient Greek or Latin where relevant, as well as in translation;
- communicate in spoken and written form with adequate clarity and complexity for the relevant audience; and
- read and think critically.
