STRATEGIC COMMUNICATION - BACHELOR OF SCIENCE (BS)

In the Department of Advertising, Public Relations and Media Design, students learn how to generate ideas and solve problems for businesses, organizations, brands and issues through a strategic thinking process that is grounded in analytical and creative thought. With the explosion of digital and social media, there’s never been a more exciting time to work in the rapidly growing field of strategic communication.

The department offers a bachelor’s degree in strategic communication—an umbrella term that refers to the way in which organizations use advertising, public relations and media design to accomplish their goals. Undergraduate students can choose to specialize in one of four track areas below.

Program Tracks

Advertising Strategy
The Advertising Strategy track prepares students for careers in account management, account planning, brand and campaign management or media management. These advertising careers require knowledge of brand-building, audience engagement across media platforms, data analysis and strategy development.

Advertising Creative
The Advertising Creative track is an application-only sequence that prepares students for opportunities in art direction and copywriting. It is an intensive program designed to provide students with an impressive portfolio of work as well as an in-depth appreciation for the ethics and challenges of the creative process.

Public Relations
The Public Relations track will prepare you for a career in one of the nation’s fastest-growing fields. Career opportunities within public relations include—but are not limited to—the roles of public relations director, media and communications manager, fundraising manager, director of communications, corporate communication manager, account manager, lobbyist, publicist, copywriter, event planner, social media manager and spokesperson.

Media Design
The Media Design track provides the methods and processes to solve a strategic communication problem, design an original concept and bring those concepts to life. Graduates are employed as digital producers, social media managers, app designers, graphic designers, user experience strategists and interaction designers.

Requirements

General Requirements
Each degree track requires 41 credit hours, comprised of the 23-credit-hour departmental Core Curriculum and 18 credit hours of specialized coursework (the Advertising Creative track requires 19-20 credit hours).

The courses of Core Curriculum include Strategic Communication Capstone (APRD 4405), a 4-credit-hour capstone course completed in the student’s final year.

Core Curriculum
Students must take the following courses to complete the department core requirement.

Secondary Area of Study
In addition to coursework required for the major, all students in STCM must complete a secondary area of study outside of STCM. This secondary area of study can be met by any of the following: a minor, a second major within CMCI, a double degree or any credit-based certificate program of at least 12 credit hours.

Program Tracks

Advertising Strategy Track
The advertising strategy track consists of three required courses and three electives totaling 18 credit hours. Up to six credit hours of elective requirements can be satisfied by an internship.
